Introduction to Huaxia Chinese School

Huaxia Chinese School was founded in February 1995. As the only school in New Jersey at that time teaching Mandarin Pinyin and simplified Chinese characters, it received widespread response and enthusiastic support from the Chinese community. The school grew rapidly from just over 70 students to more than 7,000 students, with 22 branch schools located throughout New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, and Connecticut. Today, Huaxia Chinese School has become the largest and most influential Chinese language school brand in the United States.

As a non-profit organization, the school aims to teach Chinese, promote Chinese culture, and serve the community. It is managed by a school committee with the leadership of the Board of Directors and the school principal. The spirit of Huaxia is the spirit of voluntary service. Huaxia owes its success to the selfless dedication of its volunteers and the hard work of its teachers. The school would like to express gratitude to all the teachers and volunteers who have devoted themselves to Huaxia over the past 28 years.

Huaxia, the largest Chinese school in the United States, has the most comprehensive education system, unified teacher training, unified graduation exams, diverse cultural courses, and various forms of parent activities. Huaxia's future is even brighter! Huaxia Chinese School welcomes you!
